Planning A Set Of Goals

1. Take each goal and ask yourselves the following questions about it.

Try to answer each question as objectively as you can by circling one number.

	Definitely ←			→ Definitely
	Not				Yes
Does it set a specific target?	0	1	2	3	4
2. Is it independent of other people?	0	1	2	3	4
3. Is it measurable?	0	1	2	3	4
4. Can you realistically expect to achieve it in the time available?	0	1	2	3	4
5. Will you be excited and satisfied when you achieve it?	0	1	2	3	4

If you score more than 15, the aim or goal is a good one; less than 10 means you ought to rephrase your goal or choose another one.

Evaluation of goal achievement

- 1. At the end of each week, evaluate goals achieved over the week, reconsider goals for the month, and adjust them if necessary.
- 2. At the end of each month, evaluate goals achieved over the month, reconsider aims for the year and adjust them if necessary.
- 3. At the end of each year, evaluate your progress over the whole year, and establish new aims for the next year.
